

Reentry Physicians Reading List

This list intends to provide a starting point for those interested in additional information on reentry of physicians into the workforce. Some of the articles while not specifically about physician reentry provide information in general on reentering the workforce that may be useful. Please note that a listing here does not indicate endorsement by the American Academy of Pediatrics.

Adams KE, Allen R, Cain JM. Physician reentry: a concept whose time has come. Obstet Gynecol. 2008 May;111(5):1195-8.

Adams D. Stricter requirements sought for relicensure as medical boards draft proposal. AMNews. December 24/31, 2007.

American College of Obstetricians and Gynecologists. Exploring options for returning to practice. ACOG Today. October 2006.

American College of Obstetricians and Gynecologists. After a break from practice, returning not easy. ACOG Today. September 2006.

American Medical Association Council on Medical Education. Report 6 of the Council on Medical Education (A-08) Physician Reentry. American Medical Association. June 2008.

Barry R. Bounce back into the workforce: How do you jump-start your career after stepping out to raise kids? MORE Magazine at <http://www.more.com/work-money/work/get-back-into-the-workforce/>.

Corsino BV, Morrow DH, Wallace CJ. Quality improvement and substance abuse: rethinking impaired provider policies. Am J Med Qual. 1996 Summer; 11(2):94-9.

Croasdale M. Clinical retraining programs hard to find. AMNews. June 4, 2007.

Croasdale M. Doctors seek more help to get back in practice; refresher programs considered. AMNews. July 24/31, 2006.

Evensen A. Your practice on hold: Planning for a leave of absence. Family Practice Management. July/August 2008; 31-34.

Freed GL, Dunham KM, Abraham L. Protecting the public: state medical board licensure policies for active and inactive physicians. Pediatrics. February 2009. 123(2) 643-652.

Freed GL, Abraham LM, Brzoznowski KF. Inactive physicians: the state of our understanding. J Pediatr. 2007 Oct;151(4):431-4.

HCPPro, Inc. Despite barriers, more inactive physicians seek to reenter work force. Medical Staff Briefing. August 2009; 19(8) 1-7.

HCPPro, Inc. Practice makes perfect: physician refresher/re-entry course. Medical Staff Briefing. Sept 2008; 18(9):5-7.

Hewlett SA, Luce CB. Off-ramps and on-ramps keeping talented women on the road to success. Harvard Business Review. March 2005 online version. Available at <http://www.hbsp.org>.

Jones L. Physician re-entry becomes larger issue as practice landscape changes. HealthLeaders Media. May 7, 2009. Accessed online February 22, 2010 at <http://www.healthleadersmedia.com/content/PHY-232674/Physician-Reentry-Becoming-Larger-Issue-as-Practice-Landscape-Changes>.

Larson Jr. PC, Steadman RH. An advanced specialty training program in anesthesiology: a special educational fellowship designed to return community anesthesiologists to clinical practice. Anesth Analg 2006; 103: 126-130.

Mark S, Gupta J. Reentry into clinical practice challenges and strategies. JAMA. 2002;288:1091-1096.

McMurray JE, Cohen M, Angus G, Harding J, Gavel, P, Horvath J, Paice E, Schmittiel J, Grumbach K. Women in medicine: a four-nation comparison. J Am Med Womens Assoc. 2002; 57(4): 185-90.

Napoli D. Can inactive physicians be lured back to work? Family Practice News. Jun 15, 2009. 39(12) 49.

Ortolon K. Reentry problems: returning to practice after a break not easy. Texas Medicine. November 2007.

Pennachio D. Returning to practice. Medical Economics. March 4, 2005:74-78.

Schonfeld, AR. Drexel programs smooth path for physicians seeking re-entry to clinical practice. Academic Physician & Scientist. Sept. 2008.

Shellenbarger, S. Sara Lee launches “returnship” program for on-rampers. Wall Street Journal. October 23, 2008. Accessed at <http://blogs.wsj.com/frontlines/2008/10/23/sara-lee-launches-returnship-program-for-on-rampers/?mod=jwomen> October 2009.

The Physician Reentry Into The Workforce Project is supported by the American Academy of Pediatrics Division of Workforce and Medical Education Policy